Seller notes: "In original unrestored condition but untested for electrical safety. I suspect the horn originally measured 22 inches in diameter but over the years it has gone slightly oval as well as developing a pronounced sag. The lid hinge screws are missing and the soundbox is incomplete therefore it is being sold as seen for spares or repairs."

An EMG gramophone with electric motor for playing 78 rpm records. In original unrestored condition. Not tested for electrical safety. I suspect that the horn originally measured 22 inches in diameter but over the years it has gone slightly oval now measures 21 inches horizontally and 23 inches vertically and has also developed a pronounced sag. The oak case is free from worm (the white spots you can see are paint which will clean off) however, the lid hinge screws are missing and the soundbox is incomplete therefore it is being sold as seen for spares or repairs.
